To Whom It May Concern:

It is my pleasure to strongly recommend Daniel Elles as a potential law school student and lawyer.

I am an adjunct professor at Macomb Community College where I teach Estate Administration and Elder Law. Daniel was in my Winter 2022 class.

Throughout the semester Daniel was an active participant in the class and always produced quality work. When called upon in class, Daniel was able to express his answers in a clear and concise manner. The assignments for this class ranged from preparing a will, preparing petitions for probate and minor guardianship, and writing a summary of case law. Daniel's work was always accurately prepared and very well written.

Daniel consistently received excellent grades for all assignments and exams. Ultimately, he received a solid A in my class.

Daniel Elles will be a stellar law school student, and an asset to the legal community.

Sincerely,

Renee Tegel
